

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A tube apparatus for providing a specimen for microscopic examination has a tube with a separator therein to provide, upon centrifuging the tube, an air pocket between the separator and its outlet a space which defines the size of a specimen to be dispensed. A spring and plug may be provided between the separator and a plug and pin thereon to dispense a defined specimen by urging the pin against a specimen holder.